Is it really worth it? Does your rationale prove that you are placing party above country? Does it show that you are compromising your morals? Is this just a game to you, in which you are sticking with your "team" regardless of the real-life effects on real people? Are you accepting changes to your personal morality because your "team" in this game suddenly happens to be unconcerned about morality, at least as far as it concerns someone on your side? Does your rationale make you a hypocrite? Is your rationale fact-based? Is it even rational? Are you one of the deplorables?
